and was bound over to await the action ant's alleged crippled arm. If it is found that he is able to work, he will be held in jail for a period of 10 days.

Edwin Folan was arraigned on the times delayed. Every effort will be made to finish the interior in time for the announced opening, Dec. 25, and held here Nov. 10, 11 and 12. All the teachers in the county were present exin charge. On the opening day State Supt. A. C. Nelson gave two addresses before the teachers. He took as his subjects, "Qualifications of a Teacher" and "A Few Things the School Should Do." He enumerated character, schol-as the foremost in the qualifications of a teacher.

In what the school should do he laid stress upon the idea of making the child comfortable. Such matters should be taught the child as will make him comfortable, no matter the height of the society in which he may be placed.
He also addressed the public at night taking "The Home and the School" as his subject.

Senator John Y. Smith spoke to the citizens of Price and congratulated them on voting the 4 mill tax for the free library and gymnasium.

high school held a reception for the teachers and a very enjoyable time was had. A dance was given in the it has not been made compulsory as a precedent condition to attending not permit this. A thorough fumigation of the school buildings has been ordered.

TAYLOR FAMILY REUNION IN KENTUCKY

Prominent Utah People Take Part in Notable Gathering at Bowling Green.

Ogden, Nov. 17.—Bishop Levi James Taylor of Harrisville and Bishop James G. Wood of Clearfield, Utah, have recently returned from an extended trip through Kentucky and other eastern and central states. The purpose of their trip was to be present at a large reunion of the Taylor family at Bowling Green, Kentucky, of which they are both members. Twenty-five years ago both were laboring as missionaries in Virginia and Kentucky, and they made this trip the occasion of renewing their acquaintance in those states. Their friends were happy to see them after so many years' absence.
During their journey they had the privilege of baptizing six new converts to the church, and it gave them much satisfaction to note that the old principles against Mormonism were dying out and that the elders were receiving better treatment than when they were young men serving in that capacity.

While away, Bishops Taylor and Wood attended the conference of the missionaries in Missouri, at St. Louis, and they felt good in renewing their missionary experiences.

The Bowling Green Record has the following account of the Taylor family reunion:

The Taylor reunion held at Rich-ardsville, Oct. 15-17, has now passed into history. Descendants of Jo Taylor were there from many states. It was good for one to be there and see these mixing and mingling here and there with their kin, many of whom they had not seen for years, and some they had not seen at all. Everybody was happy and all worked in unison.

The good Lord, "from whom all blessings flow," blessed these people with three ideal days. Fully 800 persons were in attendance each day.

There was a wealth of old-fashioned Kentucky hospitality, for the local members of the family vied with each other in providing homes for the visitors, and food for the multitude. The barbecue on Saturday was only the piece de resistance for everything was in such abundance that one hardly knew where to stop. It would be in-vidious to mention any particular make-for all did their utmost. Of course, much of the credit is due to the good women, who were untiring in their work of hospitality.

Mr. A. H. Taylor proved to be the right man in the right place as chairman, and well did he discharge the duties.

Opening prayer by the Rev. William I. Taylor of Whitesburg, Ind. For want of space we shall not attempt to reproduce all of the many good talks made, but the welcome address delivered by Mr. J. Nicholas Taylor, of this county, follows:

He said: "This is the happiest day of my life. When I view this great crowd and see the motives that brought us together, 'tis good to be here. This is a Taylor reunion, descendants of Jo Taylor and his kin.
From best information, 105, or 106, years ago, Jo Taylor bought this land just over on the hill. His family consisted of his wife, the sons and nine daughters. Soon after he moved to this place it became natural for some of his children to move out. All 12 raised large families, and as they came up, moved out and out and so on down to the fourth generation and they are still moving out and out. A Taylor never took the back track. They are on the hills of Kentucky and from the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific. I am glad my name is Taylor and I am glad of another thing; that these people have kept in touch with each other as much as any I have ever heard of. The reunion has been published far and wide, and we are here from many states, and I want to say to all, relatives and friends alike, enjoy yourselves."

Among those present from a distance were: Levi J. Taylor, Ogden city, Utah; Jas. G. Wood, Clearfield, Utah;
R. E. McIntire, Rexburg, Ida.

Before the Taylor reunion closed, the Joseph Taylor, Sr., association was formed, to keep up the interest in the family reunion. The officers selected were: Joseph Taylor, president; Dr.

Samuel Taylor, first vice president; Levi James Taylor, second vice president; J. Luther Taylor, secretary and treasurer; Rev. William Irvin Taylor, corresponding secretary. Trustees: A.
H. Taylor, Richard Cloyd, T. C. Cherry, Ed. G. Young, R. W. Basham, Alfred Taylor, Joseph Taylor, Ezekiel Taylor, J. N. Taylor.

A committee to arrange for a monument at the grave of Joseph Taylor, 2c, was appointed, consisting of the following persons: Adam Cherry, Simon B. Taylor, Levi J. Taylor, T. C.
Cherry, James K. White, Columbus Milligan, J. Luther Taylor, Henry Goode.

The Taylor reunion will go down in history as one of the greatest gatherings of the kind ever held in this good county of Warren. It was brought to close by singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," in which everybody took part.

ANOTHER SMALLPOX SCARE AT VERNAL

(Special Correspondence.)

VERNAL, Utah, Nov. 14.—We are confronted again with the "smallpox" scare, there being several cases in Naples ward near Vernal, with a report that there are two cases in the city. The ecclesiastical authorities are doing all they can in connection with the civil authorities to control the disease. The cases, with one exception, are light, one is serious.

Winter is here at last, a few inches of snow has fallen and the weather is much colder.

Since the city election, which went "wet" the prohibitionists are talking of the state and county election a year from now when they think they have a much better chance for success. Many city people say that they will support a county of state and liquor ticket willingly, the chances seem to be very good for a victory at that time.

The business men as a rule say that business conditions are very good.
